

Fidelity National Title Group, Inc. Announces Changes To Previously Announced Exchange Offers and FNT Indenture

Jacksonville, Fla. -- (January 6, 2006) – Fidelity National Title Group, Inc. (NYSE: FNT), the nation's largest title insurance company and a majority-owned, publicly traded subsidiary of Fidelity National Financial, Inc. (NYSE: FNF), today announced several changes to its previously announced exchange offers and to the FNT indenture under which new FNT notes will be issued in the exchange offers.

FNT will remove the exception for liens securing debt in an amount equal to 15 percent of consolidated tangible assets from the limitation on liens covenant in the FNT indenture. Additionally, FNT will add a cross acceleration event of default provision comparable to the provision that was originally included with respect to each series of FNF notes. FNT will also make other conforming changes to the covenants in the FNT indenture to make the covenants under the new FNT indenture consistent with the covenants in the indenture governing the FNF Notes.

FNT also announced that the previously announced offers to exchange the FNF notes for equivalent FNT notes are no longer subject to the receipt of consents from the holders of a majority of the outstanding principal amount of each series of FNF notes. As such, FNT will accept for exchange any and all FNF notes properly tendered. FNT will also eliminate the consent to a waiver of past defaults from the consent solicitation related to the previously announced exchange offers. As before, any holder that properly tenders FNF notes will be deemed to consent to all other amendments to the FNF indenture described in the prospectus for the exchange offers. Lastly, FNT has extended the expiration of the exchange offers from 5:00 p.m. New York City time on Wednesday, January 11, 2006, to 11:59 p.m. New York City time on Friday, January 13, 2006. All other terms and conditions under the exchange offers and related consent solicitation remain the same in all other respects.
